

July 12, 2013

National Library of Medicine
Building 38A - Room 4N-419
8600 Rockville Pike
Bethesda, MD U.S.A. 20894

Re: Recommendation letter for the Journal of AIDS & Clinical Research to be indexed in PubMed

To Whom It May Concern:

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to strongly recommend the Journal of AIDS & Clinical Research (JACR) to be indexed in PubMed Central. JACR is a multidisciplinary journal that aims to publish most complete and reliable source of information on the discoveries and current developments in HIV/AIDS related research.

I have been serving as an Editor for this Journal from its first published issue in 2010, and have seen the projectiles of the increasing number of high-quality manuscripts the Journal has received and the increasing number of citations on the papers that the Journal has published in the past years. As an epidemiologist with a decade of experiences on HIV/AIDS research and with experiences of serving as a reviewer for >15 journals including AIDS, JAMA, Plos One, I can vouch on the strictness of manuscript review by the Journal and the high quality of the papers that this Journal has published.

Journal staff and editorial board members have worked and will continue to work very hard for the journal to establish its high professional standing. The Index of the Journal by PubMed Central will make the high quality of papers in this Journal even more widely accessible to the global researchers.

Sincerely yours,

Han-Zhu Qian, M.D., Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Medicine
Division of Epidemiology
Vanderbilt University Medical Center
Phone: (615) 343-3159
E-mail: han-zhu.qian@vanderbilt.edu