

To whom it may concern,

08/05/2013

I would like to recommend the Journal of Yoga and Physical Therapy to be indexed in PubMed. Over the last year, I have the honor to serve as an Associate Editor for the Journal of Yoga and Physical Therapy. I have realized significant improvement in the quality of the manuscripts that have been submitted for review.

Most of these manuscripts have dealt with important health related topics that are pivotal to the general population as well as to clinical population. Featuring the journal in PubMed will allow many clinicians, health care specialist, and researchers to have access to the scientific breakthrough in the field of Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation. If you have any questions concerning this letter, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Ashraf S. Gorgey, PT, PhD, FACSM
Research Scientist
Hunter Holmes McGuire Medical Center
Spinal Cord Injury & Disorders Service

Assistant Professor
Department of Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation
Virginia Commonwealth University