Dear Sir,

Clinical Microbiology Open Access, a peer reviewed journal has been bringing out research articles of the international standards. Adhering to the highest ethical values, this rapidly growing medical journal is disseminating scientific knowledge for the welfare of mankind. The journal has been progressing by leaps and bounds which could not have been possible without the relentless efforts of both the learned Editorial Board members as well as the official staff of the journal.

I would therefore strongly recommend this journal to be indexed in PubMed so that its articles could be more widely circulated and referred to.

Yours Sincerely
