To whom it may concern

Letter of recommendation

I recommend the Journal of Fisheries & Livestock Production to be indexed in all reputed indexing platforms as for example Web of Science and Scopus. The journal is an Open Access journal and aims to publish thorough and trustworthy scientific information on the recent findings and developments in livestock production and fisheries in the form of original articles, review articles, case reports, short communications, etc. and making them freely available online without any restrictions or any other subscriptions to researchers worldwide. The articles published so far show high quality and are of great importance to the field.

To ensure a high quality review process Editorial Tracking System is used and at least two experts in the field need to approve an article before publication. The editorial board members and the journal staff have worked very hard to establish a high professional standing of the journal. Therefore it is justified that the journal is included in the scientific indexing platforms so the impact and influence of the published work get also measurable.

Sincerely yours,

Sabine Sampels PhD.
