

3rd International Conference and Exhibition on Addiction Research & Therapy

August 04-06, 2014 Hilton-Chicago/Northbrook, Chicago, USA

Smoking among physicians - Are we setting an example?

Yotam Shkedy

Rabin Medical Center, Israel

Smoking is a serious health issue worldwide and a major risk factor for cancer, cardiac disease and many other illnesses. Smoking trends among physicians predict similar trends in the general population. Much research has been done regarding smoking rates among physicians, the recent trends of those rates and the effect of smoking among doctors and smoking rates in the general population. This presentation will review the current body of knowledge in the area of smoking amongst physicians.

Biography

Yotam Shkedy completed his MD from Technion Institute of Technology in Israel. He is an Otolaryngologist and as part of his work on head and neck squamous cell carcinoma, has published research about smoking trends in physicians in Israel.

yotamy@clalit.org.il