Reduced risk and enhanced results for skin color

The goal of this activity is for health care and wellness providers to develop a greater understanding of the importance of lessening the risk factor when developing skin treatment plans or consulting with individuals regarding basic or advanced skin care treatments. The heart of the presentation is the development of a personal skin profile based on observation and quantitative methods. A consultation is the key to a truly comprehensive skin assessment in this way supports not only skin health but the early identification of potential skin cancer risks.

Biography

Pamela R Springer is an author, contributor to industry publications and a book reviewer for Milady’s publishing, with over 20 years of experience working with multi-ethnic skin. She has been a Subject Matter Expert for the National Council of State Boards of Cosmetology, Inc. (NJC) and was the first Aesthetician on the Arizona Board of Cosmetology. Since 90s, she has conducted hands-on training workshops in cities throughout the United States.

Notes: