Bisoma five-element acupuncture

David Lee
David Lee Acupuncture Clinic, USA

Bisoma acupuncture introduces a simple, effective and user-friendly protocol that requires a short amount of the practitioner’s time to effectively establish a medical treatment. Only two sets of five acupuncture points, called transporting horary points are used. Additional points are optional but generally not necessary. Improvement of the patient’s condition has been shown to be immediate and dramatic. Bisoma acupuncture relieves pain for a wide range of acute and chronic health problems that acupuncture is known to treat, such as muscle-joint pain, chemical dependency, anxiety/depression, hot flashes, migraine, neuropathy and vertigo. In addition, multiple patients can be treated at one time without compromising efficacy. Due to the ease of learning about and the implementation of bisoma acupuncture, this study shows it can be utilized to treat anyone, anywhere. Further studies on the use of bisoma acupuncture should be conducted so that any person may receive an accessible and effective medical care for their condition.

Biography

David Lee is a licensed Acupuncturist and an Asian Herbal Medicine Practitioner. He has received his Doctorate of Philosophy in Oriental Medicine in 2006 from American Liberty University in Fullerton, California. In addition, he received his Masters in Oriental Medicine in 1999 from Emperor’s College of Traditional Oriental Medicine. He has completed an Externship at the Daniel Freeman Hospital in the city of Marina del Rey, California, and at the University of California Los Angeles, Arthur Ashe Student Health and Wellness Center. He studied pre-medicine and received a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology at University of California, Irvine. He has been practicing since 2000 and is currently based in California.

davidleeacupuncture@yahoo.com

Notes: