1. How many years have you been associated with the current research?
   Twenty.

2. What is the research topic you are working on now?
   Nanomaterials for medical applications in hematology.

3. What are attributes for a quality article?
   Meaningful, clearly stated problem, thoroughness of submission, clarity.

4. Do you have any research funding (NIH or other national funding) now?
   Yes NIH.

5. When did you become an editor of OMICS Journal?
   3 years ago.

6. Where can the journal find the maximum scope in terms of niche?
   Nanomedicine.

7. How does the published scientific content assist the potential researchers?
   It provides useful information about what is going on in the field.

8. What is the purpose of serving as an editor?
   To give back to the community and keep high standards.

9. Do you have any patents?
   Three.

10. Have you contributed any editorials or papers (any types) to OMICS Journals in the past two years?
    Yes. One.
11. Do you plan to contribute any editorials or papers to OMICS Journals in the next year?
Yes.

12. How would you define your experience with OMICS Group?
Good. It seems well organized and has interesting contributions.

13. Your opinion on conducting Editorial Board meetings at related Conferences?
This is a good idea except some people have travel restrictions so there needs to be a mechanism for video conferencing as well.

14. Would you recommend OMICS to your friends or colleagues?
Yes.

15. How do you differentiate Journal of Nanomedicine & Nanotechnology with other journals in the field?
Faster publication, worldwide reach.