Investment on Nursing

Worldwide nursing investment is more than $538 million for nursing programs, including $91 million in the last 2 years, an indication of the growing importance of nursing vision for the future of healthcare services. The various programs have significantly contributed for transforming primary and inpatient care, thus enhancing Public health, and it has reshaped corporate decision-making and influenced policy at the national, state and federal levels.

Market Value on Nursing:

The 2019 market research report on nursing and residential care facilities is an in-depth evaluation of the industry and will provide you with the key knowledge and insight, trends and standards you need to develop a broad and comprehensive diagnosis and understanding of the industry and society. Over the five years to 2019, the need for services provided by nursing care facilities is expected to grow gradually along with revenues. Over the five-year period, the continued aging of the population has triggered demand for industrial services, as the number of adults aged 60 and older is expected to increase.

There has been a significant rise in nursing department over the past three decades. In both Korea and the United States, nurse scientists are expected to tackle important issues related to the prevention and management of serious health complications. The need for improved nursing development in the fields of self-management, biology and geriatrics, health promotion, mental health and innovation are briefly highlighted. Future research efforts will be improved by interdisciplinary collaboration and the establishment of international nursing research centers. At the same time, we need to remain aware of the importance of mentoring future nursing education.

However, an unstable reimbursement model and changes implemented by the healthcare reform have led to switch from nursing homes to home care treatment and community care services. As these services are conducted at home, their development presents a serious threat to industry operators. In 2016, industry revenues amounted to $238.2 billion. Over the last 3 years, the industry has grown at an annual rate of 4.1%. There are 38,615 companies in the industry rising in the sector. Revenues per company in 2016, average sales per company is $6.2 million.

Expanding at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.3 percent over the forecast period, the global market for clinical nursing research is expected to rise from US$ 25.9 billion in 2015 to US$ 38.4 billion by 2024. The education market of health and nursing education sector is driven by workshops, seminars. Student choices are changing and this will reduce the scope of distance learning by 2024. However the online nursing training program is quickly evolving as a remunerative form of medical education and this segment is more likely to have the highest compound annual growth rate of 7.29% between 2016 and 2024.
