Abstract:

Aim: With Unlock 5 underway and life moving back to a semblance of past normality, interactions among love birds have moved up a notch. Having to cope up with their partners for months in a closed space due to the lockdown, the excitement from a change of scenery has proved sexually alluring for some. According to a study conducted by Gleeden sitting, an extramarital dating platform, more than 60 percent of respondents confessed that the lockdown had a negative impact on their relationship, both emotionally and physically. To understand what men and women did to feel desirable, 2,000 users from Delhi, Satara, Thane, Hyderabad, Goa, Kolkata and Pune have polled between second extended June 25 and October 15,2020.
