Educational Tourism is beneficial in so many ways and the best way to help students and adults gain a new perspective on the World. Global Tourism awakens the mind and senses to different Cultures and experiences [1]. Think of travel as a learning vacation both educational and fun.

When traveling to a different Country learn something about their Culture and once you arrive at your destination contact the natives or a Visitor Center. The Visitor Center will have a vast amount of information on the area you are visiting. The natives will tell you about one of their favorite restaurants or shopping areas. Understanding a Countries Culture can make a difference whether or not you enjoy your visit.

There are all types of learning tours such as Culinary and Wine tours, Museums, Art Galleries, Historical Sites, local Parks and the list goes on.

It is vital that students experience field trips which are Educational and gives Students exposure to places they might not otherwise visit [2]. The most exciting part of these learning trips is that Students have the experience of getting away from the classroom setting and coming into a different environment. Day trips for students can range from visiting Civic Organizations, Zoos, Botanical Gardens and local or long distance Businesses. Inspire and suggest to Adults and Students to explore Educational Travel. Learning is essential part of life, whether the topic is on Health, Finances or Travel.

Educational Tourism sometimes involves a Tour Guide or Director that can give a tourist a broader perspective on the subject that is being discussed. It can also re-inforce what a Teacher has discussed on that particular topic in the classroom.

Tours create episodic memories and a learning experience of a lifetime. Continue to travel and make those educational memories.

Happy and Safe Travels
