

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

July 22, 2013

To Whom it might be concerned,

With greatest pleasure I am writing this letter on behalf of Journal of Clinical & Cellular Immunology, who is applying to be indexed in PubMed Central. I have been a reviewer for this journal and a member of the Editorial Board for more than 4 years, during which time I reviewed and edited manuscripts and I was able to experience first hand the review process.

To introduce myself, I am a Professor of Neurology at the University of Maryland, School of Medicine. I have been a faculty member at University of Maryland for 19 years, and I am an expert in multiple sclerosis. During this time I was principal investigator of National Institutes of Health, Veterans Administration and Multiple Sclerosis Society funded research projects on multiple sclerosis. I was also an associate editor for Journal of Immunology and editorial board member for Journal of Neuroimmunology.

Based on my previous experience and that of working with the Journal of Clinical & Cellular Immunology I strongly recommend the Journal of Clinical & Cellular Immunology to be indexed in PubMed Central. I have to say that the Journal staff and editorial board members have worked very hard for the journal to establish its high professional standing.

I have absolutely no doubt that journal will continue on the same path and will become an important journal in the field of Immunology. I strongly recommend the journal as an excellent candidate to be indexed in PubMed.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you need further information's.

Sincerely yours,

Horea Rus, M.D., PhD
Professor of Neurology