Re: Recommendation letter for PubMed indexing

The journal Advances in Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety represents a reliable source of information in all areas of the field of pharmacoepidemiology making them freely available through online without any restriction. It provides the possibility of communication for international scientific community. The journal publishes only high quality peer-reviewed articles.

For the reasons mentioned above I strongly recommend the journal Advances in Pharmacoepidemiology and Drug Safety to be indexed in PubMed.

With kindest regards
